Ike Urges Decision On Formal War

Former President Suggests Congress Study Declaration

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says it is time for Congress to decide whether to formally declare war against North Vietnam.

The five-star general also called for an end to what he termed "a war of gradualism" in Vietnam and said the conflict deserves top priority to insure an allied victory.

Eisenhower's views were published Friday in the Republican Congressional Committee Newsletter. They were given last Saturday in reply to questions put to him by 34 freshmen GOP representatives at his Gettysburg, Pa., home.

Eisenhower approved use of his comments in paraphrased form.

Questioned about a declaration of war, his paraphrased reply was: "With 450,000 U.S. troops now in Vietnam, it is time that Congress decided whether or not to declare a state of war exists with North Vietnam.

"Previous congressional resolutions of support provide only limited authority. Although Congress may decide that the previously approved resolution on

Hideaway Huddle

No Deal, Claims Gov. Reagan Of California Talks

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan of California and former Vice President Richard M. Nixon huddle today in the seclusion of a plush forest hideaway. Nixon, who arranged the meeting, says "there will be no deal-talking" about the 1968 presidential campaign.

They agreed beforehand there would be no political strings attached to their session at Bohemian Grove, a hideaway for wealthy businessmen on the Russia River north of San Francisco and west of Sacramento.

"There will be no deal-talking," said Nixon, the unsuccessful GOP nominee in 1960, in a curbside interview Friday in San Francisco. Nixon said the 1968 political campaign would be discussed, but strictly on an informal, noncommittal basis.

Several other prominent Republican figures planned to be at Bohemian Grove.

Referring to the 1968 campaign, Reagan commented before leaving Sacramento: "I just have a strange hunch that subject will not come up."

But Reagan's close advisers were certain it would, and said the governor was determined to keep the political conversation in general terms.

"I intend to listen," said Reagan, whose supporters are convinced Nixon could not make a good showing in the primaries and Reagan would inherit much of the former vice president's support.

Newsmen were barred from the meeting.

Nixon said he is respecting Reagan's declared intention to be a favorite son candidate from California, adding that "any potential candidate should respect the right of any favorite son to have his delegation and should not interfere with the makeup of that delegation."

Reagan has said he will be a favorite son in the interest of party unity.

U.S. Lists 37 Dead In Hard Action

Fierce Battles End 2-Week Lull; Cong Attempts Ambush

SAIGON (AP) — A series of fierce battles involving American, South Korean and South Vietnamese troops killed nearly 600 Communist soldiers Friday, according to reports today from the combat units.

The U.S. Command in Saigon said the savage fighting had ended a two-week lull in the ground war. Action appeared to have tapered off again today, with only scattered contacts reported.

Two American helicopters were shot down over South Vietnam Friday.

Among the Communist dead was a battalion commander cut down by South Vietnamese troopers in a fight on the coastal plains northwest of Hue. The Communist battalion of some 500 men lost 216 killed, 15 prisoners, of whom four were women, and 78 weapons left on the bloody field.

The heaviest American action was northeast of Saigon, where an armored column of the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment was sweeping a main road through Long Khanh Province.

Viet Cong guerrillas set up an ambush as the column came up the road and a two-hour melee followed. The cavalrymen lost 15 dead and 60 wounded. The enemy toll was 90 dead and 26 weapons left on the field.

American casualties throughout the country totaled 37 dead and 153 wounded.

Elements of the South Korean Tiger and White Horse divisions got into battle in coastal Phu Yen Province. Details were temporarily withheld but unofficial reports indicated the Communists lost more than 200 dead.

Initial field reports from the Korean and South Vietnamese Friday had told of 380 Communist dead in the two engagements. According to the revised figures today, they killed more than 400.

The U.S. Command announced that two large-scale Marine sweeps have begun in the area around Khe Sanh just below the western edge of the zone. Hand-to-hand fighting was reported in scattered contacts Friday. After one brief fire fight in which the Marines were shelled with 120 rounds of mortar fire the North Vietnamese faded into the jungle leaving 22 dead on the field.

A Marine sweep was reported to have broken up an attempted Communist ambush five miles east of Khe Sanh. A North Vietnamese battalion of about 500 men had dug in along Route 9 below the demilitarized zone.

Negroes Ask U.N. Probe Of Treatment

Newark Parley Hits At Mayor Of City, Urges Ballot Recall

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Delegates to a quiet conference on black power exploded into sudden action Friday night, wildly cheering proposals to recall Mayor Hugh Addonizio and ask the United Nations to investigate the treatment of Negroes in the United States.

The more than 400 Negroes of the rally shouted their approval of demands to release without bail every Negro arrested in the recent riots here and of a statement supporting "the right of black people to revolt when they deem it necessary and in their interests."

Floyd McKissick, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, poet-playwright Leroi Jones, Los Angeles black nationalist Ron Karenga and comedian Dick Gregory suggested the various resolutions as the more militant factions took over a night meeting.

With a few conspicuous exceptions, whites were excluded from what had originally been

Youth 'Critical' In Gun Accident

An accidental shooting about 7:45 p.m. Friday seriously injured one of three East Liverpool youths on an outing at a Salineville farm.

Roger Stephen Smith, 18, of 313 Garfield St., is in critical condition at City Hospital here with a .22-caliber rifle slug in the chest.

Sheriff's Deputy Sid Boydston said each of the boys had a .22-caliber rifle and one carried by Richard Frank Brewer Jr., 14, of 1074 Peake St. discharged accidentally when he stumbled going through the woods.

Richard ran to Route 644, a half-mile away, to get help, while William Joseph Wright, 18, of 308 Ogden St. stayed with Roger.

The three boys are neighbors and the older two are high school seniors.

Richard flagged a car driven by Paul Kelley, 21, of Station Hill, Salineville, who called Dr. J. M. Nedelkoff, local physician. Richard remained at the roadside to direct the doctor to the wooded ravine where the victim lay.

Manning's ambulance took the youth to the hospital. Crewmen were able to drive through a field to the edge of the woods. They carried Smith out of the hollow on a stretcher and reported the boy was in shock and appeared near death.

The accident occurred on the Charles Cassidy farm, two miles west of downtown Salineville. The boys planned to spend the night at the farm of young Wright's parents, Roy and Gloria Wright, who use it for gardening and a summer retreat. Their farm is across Route 644 from the Cassidy place.

Mrs. Wright took the boys to the farm yesterday afternoon and stayed until early evening. She said she had been home only a short time when she received word of the accident.

She said she learned the boys were hunting rabbits and groundhogs, but she did not know Richard had a rifle.

Deputy Boydston said Richard told him they were on their way to a dump to shoot and he stumbled as they walked through the ravine. The boy said the gun dropped out of his hand for an instant and went off when he grabbed it. It was cocked, he said.

Roger, son of George Smith Jr. of 727 Avondale St., makes his home with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Smith.

Orbit Started Around Moon By 'Explorer'

Scientists Report Satellite's Systems Working Properly

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Slowed by a jolting blast from a braking rocket, America's Lunar Explorer satellite swooped into an orbit about the moon today.

The spacecraft, launched Wednesday from Cape Kennedy, is designed to investigate radiation and other potential hazards to moon-bound astronauts.

At 5:19 a.m. today, as Lunar Explorer neared the end of its 225,608-mile earth-to-moon voyage, a station at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center, Greenbelt, Md., sent a radio signal to trigger the retro-rocket.

The motor fired with a 23-second burst to slow the speed of the 230-pound payload fom 5,440 to 2,040 miles an hour. The slowdown enabled the moon's gravitational field to tug the Explorer into an orbit about the moon.

Two hours later a Goddard spokesman reported the craft had settled into the lunar surface. The satellite requires 11.4 hours to make each circuit.

"All experiments are working, and it looks beautiful," the spokesman reported.

Dynamite Hit Bar, Rink At Youngstown

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A bar and roller skating rink frequented by Negroes were hit by dynamite explosions early today, and at about the same time a fire bomb was thrown at a Negro pool room.

The explosions at the Belmont Bar on Belmont Avenue and Reed's Roller Skating Arena on Oak Hill Avenue and the fire bombing of Charity's Pool Room on East Federal Street all came close together at about 4 a.m., police said.

Most heavily damaged apparently was the Belmont Bar. The explosion that ripped the front of that bar also broke windows across the street.

The fire bomb tossed against the front of the pool room failed to ignite.

The incidents occurred a few hours after a rowdy crowd of Negro youths was broken up by police near the Executive Club on West Federal Street in the downtown area. Some persons in the crowd had been yelling obscenities at Executive Club patrons, police said.

Area Man 'Critical' After Plunge Of Car

A Salineville man is in "critical" condition at Salem City Hospital with internal injuries received Friday when his compact car left Route 558 near East Fairfield and rolled over an embankment.

Howard E. Garren, 46, of RD 1, was westbound on Rt. 558, the Highway Patrol at Lisbon reports, when he lost control of his auto, went left of center and then off the highway. The car came to rest on its side.

The accident, timed at 4:55 p.m., is still under investigation.

Electrical Union Charges 2 Aides

WASHINGTON (AP) — The AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers says two of its officials squandered $141,747 in union funds, charging it off to everything from a $3 bar bill to $27,000 worth of turkeys.

Investigators appointed by union President Paul Jennings leveled the charges at Milton Weihrauch and Joseph Iozzi, two of Jennings' staunchest allies in his bitter 1965 election campaign against James B. Carey.

Iozzi denied the charges. Weihrauch said he would reply in detail later.

The investigators said Weihrauch and Iozzi spent the money over five years on "strike assistance" never received by strikers, salary advances never repaid, unauthorized trips to Miami Beach, liquor, bars, restaurants, racetracks, a $55.71 pipe and a $350 color television

'Sherlock Holmes'

Basil Rathbone, 75, Dies Following Heart Seizure

NEW YORK (AP) — Basil Rathbone, the suave Shakespearean actor familiar to two generations of moviegoers as the screen's clipped-accented Sherlock Holmes, is dead of a heart attack. He was 75.

Rathbone played the role of Arthur Conan Doyle's deerstalker-capped, fictional sleuth in 16 films midway in his career as a Hollywood star.

Then, feeling his own personality was being submerged by that of Holmes, he abruptly quit the series and returned to his first love, the stage.

Rathbone had no history of heart trouble and was active until his death in his Manhattan apartment Friday.

Although he achieved popular fame and considerable fortune through the Holmes series, Rathbone usually referred to the experience derisively after he quit.

"I played Holmes for seven years, and nobody thought I could do anything else," he once complained.

He was born the son of an English mining engineer in Johannesburg, South Africa. As a boy he narrowly escaped death at the hands of the Boers and his father decided to send him to England to be educated.

At 18 he went to work for an insurance company, an experience he found "frightfully dull and uninvigorating." Soon after he left and joined a Shakespearean troupe managed by his cousin, Sir Frank Benson.

His first stage appearance was at the Theater Royal in Ipswich as Horatio in "The Taming of the Shrew." He was good enough so that his cousin brought him to the United States on tour in 1912.

During World War I he was a kilted captain in the Liverpool Scottish Regiment. He once explained his war experience to an interviewer thus: "All I did, old man, was disguise myself as a tree — that's correct, a tree — and cross no-man's land to gather a bit of information from the German lines."

Rathbone's first movie, a silent one, was "The Masked Bride" in 1925. With the advent of talkies his crisp well-modulated voice stood him in good stead.

His Hollywood career included more than 100 films.

Soviet Fails U.N. Goal On Israel Issue

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — With a U.S.-Soviet compromise balked by Arab opposition, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko was heading home today without the prize the Russians had sought—a United Nations resolution demanding that Israel withdraw its troops from Arab soil.

Gromyko voted with U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg Friday for a procedural resolution to conclude the General Assembly's five-week emergency session on the Middle East crisis. Arab delegates called the resolution a cover-up and voted against it.

The resolution, passed 63-26 with Israel and 26 other countries abstaining, sends the debate back to the Security Council, where it began. The council was expected to meet in one to three weeks on the issue of Israel's take-over of the Jordanian and Israeli sectors of Jerusalem.

Gromyko told newsmen he was satisfied with the 122-nation emergency session because "the overwhelming majority of delegations in this or that form condemned the aggressor," meaning Israel.

But the Russians' last hope that the assembly session they had called might adopt a resolution condemning Israel was dashed when the Arabs refused to go along with a resolution for Israeli withdrawal agreed on by Gromyko and Goldberg Wednesday.

Finders Keepers?

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) —Ruth Weibler noticed a light - colored bag on a downtown street corner.

The only markings on the bag was "Bank of America," so she carted it off to the nearest bank. There officials told her that $15,000 in bills were inside.

An official of an armored car firm said the bag apparently had fallen unnoticed from a loading cart.

If Mrs. Weibler had known what she was carrying Friday, she said, "I would have fainted."

Gun Cry Heard At Area Station

Two men and a woman walked into the Cassidy service station on 1st St., at Chester, about 5 a.m. today, reportedly started an argument and threatened to pull a gun if police were called.

Details were sketchy, but Chester police said the three apparently got into an argument with the attendant, "Butch" Sheppard, and the threat was the result. However, Sheppard called police and Chief Audley Campbell, along with Patrolman Joseph (Bill) Cornwell, responded. Campbell said this morning the three had vanished when they arrived.

Sheppard and other witnesses said they did not actually see a gun.

Then, about 7:30 this morning, two persons driving a late model Pontiac "GTO" carrying a Florida license plate, pulled into the service station, took an 8.25-by-14 tire and fled into Ohio.

Attendant George Gillespie pursued the pair as far as the Route 7 and 30 freeway and then went to the East Liverpool police station to notify authorities.

Officers believe the two incidents were unrelated.

The investigation was requested by State Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is buying furniture from Communist Yugoslavia.

It has awarded a $1.58-million contract to Jugoexport of Belgrade for household furniture to equip U.S. Army housing in West Germany.

The Army did not try to buy the needed furniture anywhere else but in Yugoslavia, it said.

The contract was listed in a routine announcement of various purchases by the armed services.

An Army spokesman said there have been other procurement contracts awarded to Yugoslavia, but he did not have the details. He said he did not know whether the Army has done any buying in other Communist nations.

He said the furniture was bought in Yugoslavia in order to use "excess foreign currency owned by the U.S. Treasury Department."

In other words, the spokesman said, the aim was to spend America - owned money which could not be used outside of Yugoslavia.

Known as counterpart funds, such monies often are accumulated by the United States in nations to which U.S. government food and other supplies are sold. Purpose of payment in local currency—with a restriction against converting the money to dollars—is to avoid driving down the values of the local currencies.

By expending counterpart funds, the spokesman said, the Army could avoid spending dollars—which would contribute to the nation's unfavorable balance of payments and the drain of U.S. gold supplies.

Asked whether the contract had been put up for competitive bids to get the furniture at the lowest possible cost, the Army said there was price competition "by negotiation."

This meant procurement officers, in effect, shopped among various possible Yugoslav suppliers looking for the best deal.

The furniture—to be installed in quarters used by U.S. military men and their families—includes chairs, beds, bedsprings, bookcases, buffets chests of drawers, flat top desks, dressers and china cabinets.

Iozzi, in a telephone interview, said the money went for Jennings' election campaign.

"I absolutely deny that union funds were used for anything other than union purposes and I condemn the members of the investigating committee who are on the international payroll of Paul Jennings," said Iozzi.

Iozzi is treasurer and Weihrauch president of District 3, the union's largest district embracing New York and New Jersey, where about one-third of the union's 342,000 members work.

Shoe Plants Needed, Indian Official Says

NEW DELHI (AP) — India urgently needs modern footwear manufacturing units to meet fast - growing demands both at home and in foreign markets, Industrial Development Minister Fakhruddin Ali Ahmed says.

Addressing the Leather Goods Development Council, Ahmed said India earned rupees 500 million ($67 million) foreign exchange during the current year and this would rise by 60 per cent in the next three years.

The Soviet Union is one of the bulk purchasers of Indian shoes and Indian leather goods figure prominently in barter deals with East European countries.

This nation of 500 million people consumes only 125 million pairs of shoes a year. Most Indians are too poor to afford footwear.

Training Is Advanced By Missionary Pilot

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Willis Thiessen, who plans to be a missionary pilot in South America, has been training for the job.

"My job will be to fly other missionaries in and out of remote jungle villages and ferry supplies to missionaries who stay in villages for extended periods," Thiessen said.

Besides learning to fly, Thiessen has trained at Moody Bible Institute, where he took a pastor's course, and received a degree in Christian education from Bryan College, Dayton, Tenn.

Now he is taking simulated jungle flying instruction at Waxhaw, N.C., where he flies between obstacles and negotiates narrow airstrips.

McKissick, after a long, frequently applauded speech on the theme that whites are determined to exterminate American Negroes, drew a standing ovation when he announced a plan to recall the mayor.

"Too long white elected officials have been immune from the wrath of the black population," he said as delegates stood time and time again to roar their approval.

"We have consulted with the progressive black leaders of this community. It is agreed that there must be a recall election to get rid of Hugh Addonizio and replace him with a black mayor."

SUMMER AND YOUR SEPTIC TANK

Surprising though it may seem, summer with its sunshine and showers, is just about the most critical time of the year for owners of septic tanks.

To correctly understand the aforementioned statement it is first necessary to analyze the workings of septic tanks, and the effect of seasonal changes.

Your septic tank is a chamber wherein exists a complex of micro - organisms, each type equipped to handle and dispose of different types of waste material. Working as a team, these infinitesimal forms of life break down and liquefy the solids, leaving only a liquid which is free to run out for final disposal in your drainfield or drywell. Regularly activated, these living "garbage disposals" will normally keep up with the flow of waste, and your system will function properly. However, surveys show that during the summer season, more systems "back-up" and overflow than at any other time of year, creating expensive and highly unsanitary conditions.

WHY ? ? ?

The answer to that question is simply "temperature". Bacterial life dislikes temperature changes, and, since your septic tank has no heating system to keep things cozy so that they can go about their work in comfort, they die off in the millions and billions when winter arrives, leaving only a "Skeleton crew" of weakened bacteria to handle the heavy loads. Consequently, as winter months pass slowly by, a build-up of undigested grease and solids occurs, clogging the tank and passing through to the disposal fields. Grease congeals and deposits in the pores of the soil, almost to the point of being beyond repair. Melting ice, snow, and showers add to the problem by increasing the amount of water entering the system.

How Sea-Cal Enzymes Help

The powerful digestive powers of the enzymes contained in SEA-CAL rapidly liquefy the hard grease packs in the septic tanks and drainfields, changing such grease and other solids into available food for the bacteria. SEA-CAL also contains 80,000,000 anerobic bacteria per gram (28 grams in each ounce) and with each bacteria reproducing itself many times a day, the micro-organism population is rapidly built up to the adequate numbers, with the ultimate return of full operating efficiency.

Ike

Vietnam given President Johnson is sufficient, the issue of a declaration of war should at least be put before the Congress for decision."

Referring to U.S. efforts in Vietnam, the Newsletter said Eisenhower felt: "Since we're sending American boys to fight and die in a hard, cruel war in Vietnam, that war should be given first priority. Other goals, however attractive, should take second place.

"Tax increases would not be needed if we had set priorities earlier."

The Newsletter also attributed these paraphrased comments to the former president:

On the need to win—"When you must use force to support a national aim, for example in the defense of another country's freedom, there is no higher authority to which you can appeal. Therefore, you must win. To do that, you need all the power you have and you must use it quickly and secretly so as to achieve surprise. You cannot win a war of gradualism. At the same time, we must help the Vietnamese government to teach its people the value of freedom and self-government."

On treaties with the Soviet Union—"Although we must treat with the Russians, we should keep in mind that there is no assurance they will keep their word. The number of treaties they have broken is astronomical. So far as possible, solid guarantees must be obtained to make sure they will do what the paper says they will do."

Dr. C. Hodge Bailey

A surgeon and physician of exceptional ability; a man who loved his fellow men and was respected by them in turn; a humanitarian; a gentleman, and a scholar.

These are among the many fine things that can be said with the utmost sincerity about Dr. Charles Hodge Bailey, who died at City Hospital yesterday after a lifetime of service to the community.

Fortunately, Dr. Bailey's attributes were recognized properly before his death. A few years ago, he received the annual "Civic Service Award" of the Junior Chamber of Commerce. Additional honors were bestowed upon him by the senior Chamber of Commerce and others.

The Chamber plaque, presented in 1957, included an expression of appreciation "for his many years of distinguished and unselfish service to the people of this community."

Dr. Bailey was widely recognized for his skill as a surgeon and his achievements in the field of medicine were many. But probably more than anything else he will be remembered for the countless kindnesses he performed for others in time of suffering. He was always ready to help those in need regardless of the circumstances.

Few people have been of greater credit to the community.

Good Roads Movement

An Ohio congressman, Clarence J. Brown, says he wonders how many air travelers will have to die before the government digs into the problem of air safety.

He was commenting on the collision of an airliner and a light private plane at Hendersonville, N.C., that killed 83 persons.

By coincidence, NBC presented a documentary the same day depicting the ever-growing danger of congested traffic in the vicinity of airports. The North Carolina collision occurred while the airliner was departing from an airport.

The significant aspect of all discussions of air congestion is this: The emergency already exists; it cannot be averted.

It is too late to take a stitch in time. Airport congestion already is so acute it will take only another year or two to induce partial paralysis in an industry whose growth potential otherwise would be unlimited.

The age of aviation is where the auto age was in the 1920s, when travel by car had caught on but was hampered by absence of roads suitable for "horseless carriages."

A gigantic and fantastically costly effort was required to put hard surfaces on dirt roads, to build through highways, get rid of bottlenecks and toll bridges, cut down grades. They called it the "good roads movement." It was paid for by its direct beneficiaries through licenses and taxes.

Even so, it was not until the 1950s that the Federal Interstate Highway system was developed — and now in the late 1960s the federal system still isn't finished.

The aviation industry had best be forewarned. If it must wait on public action to clear up its problem, it will be idling its engines waiting for takeoff at the turn of the century.

In the meantime, deep thinkers can muse about the irony of aviation's being in such a hurry to make progress it swamped airports and air control.

There now will be, as could be expected, an increased clamor to get rid of private planes at commercial airports. But this will have a sour note. The commercial airports do not belong to their commercial users but to the public.

Canine Quandry

The city's sewage disposal plant is certainly no place for keeping in detention the community's stray dogs.

Most of us have to sympathize with the sewage department staff whose sense of orderliness is offended by the dog pound, the telephone calls from owners of lost pets and the loss of apparently needed storage space.

However, regard, if you will, the plight of the dogs.

Cursed with a careless owner — or no owner at all — cast into an atmosphere of criminal blame and corralled in a corner of a sewage plant replete with various odors, the hazard of chlorine gas, the noise of pump motors and the frowns of hostile hosts—ah, if dogs could only write letters to editors, what tails—er, tales—they could tell.

Perhaps no one wants the pound out of the sewage plant more than the dogs themselves. They may be less than enthusiastic about the proposed use of the onetime city incinerator building—but any old pound in a storm.

Is there some kind-hearted dog lover who might provide better quarters for the canine unfortunates? We hope so, Mayor George Willshaw and Council hope so, and the pooches down at the sewage plant no doubt join us.

A Reasonably Educated Guess

The newest variation in Kremlinology is guessing what caused a mounting series of bloopers that reached a comic-opera climax in the Middle East fiasco.

If the Kremlin's blooperites compound the damage by piddling away another huge expenditure in arms on the Arab bloc, the comic opera may become so uproarious the curtain will have to be rung down on the producers.

What could account for the blunders that have transformed the Kremlin's image from an international juggernaut that rolls over everything in its path to a disorganized dragon biting its own tail in frustration?

A reasonably educated guess would be that the uneasy men in the Kremlin now are so intent on holding one another's hands, to make certain no one cuts loose on a power spree they are running things by committee.

No one can exercise authority because no one is being permitted to have authority in his own right. Consequently, decisions are being made with no cohesive policy behind them. The Kremlin is riding off in all directions — and stumbling.

Although stumbling in itself is nothing new in government, it is something new when an authoritarian government's stumbling and fumbling become obvious. Diplomats are wondering what it's all about. This doesn't look like authoritarianism.

Diplomats are guessing that before long the Kremlin may go through another of its periodic upheavals. The Communist hierarchy cannot look forward to another Middle East fiasco with anything but dread, yet another one seems to be in the making — more by mishap than design.

Papa Bird Finds A Worm

President Johnson's penchant for taking care of his friends and political cronies is too well known not to have expected him to find a place in government for the husband of one of the former secretaries in his office.

Simon McHugh, who is only 29, was nominated June 27 to a vacancy on the Subversive Activities Control Board. He was confirmed Monday, but with only a handful of senators on the floor.

Mr. McHugh's wife is the former Vicki McCammon, who was one the President's personal secretarial staff before her marriage last year.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said the McHugh nomination was handled routinely and without intercession by the President, but a White House aid did call the Senate Judiciary Committee to ask whether any objections had been raised to the appointment.

There is no doubt that Mr. Johnson knew Mr. McHugh better than others on the list of possible appointees, and he may be as qualified as any of the others for the $26,000-a-year job on a five-man board which decides whether suspected organizations should be formally cited as subversive.

But it simply doesn't generate confidence in the objectiveity of the appointment system and the confirmation procedure when the Democrats, regardless of their convictions, feel no compulsion to "kick the President in the teeth on a minor matter like this."

Purely Personal Observations

People who say the Air Force could settle everything in Vietnam if unleased should specify what they think an unleased Air Force could do that it isn't doing already. The unleashing idea is a red herring to divert attention from the fact air power is not all-conclusive.

Church mergers, now commonplace, remind me of my childhood, when I was forbidden to walk past edifices of competitive denominations for fear of satanic exudations that might wither my faith.

Contrary to a growing impression, some of us are still working at our jobs. We are not on strike. We are not on relief. We are not throwing rocks at anyone. And we are fed up with the impression we are a minority.

I think statistics should be compiled on how rarely anyone walks away from a motorcycle accident, to show that the hazard of the vehicle is not in its mishandling but in lack of protection in the event of collision.

I have found out everything I want to know about the confrontation at Glassboro State College, except the reaction of the college president's housekeeper when informed the living room was to be the scene of a summit conference.

Connecticut Sen. Thomas J. Dodd does not feel guilty about the way he handled his financial affairs — and that, of course, is why he had to be censured by his peers. If he ever had felt guilty, he would have known what was coming.

"Peace for our grandchildren" was the theme for the Johnson-Kosygin dialogue. I have reservations on that point. Our grandchildren will have had time to develop their own hatreds and will not take kindly to any love-ins our generation might have scheduled for them.

Time To Raise Our Sights

VICTOR RIESEL

The Revitalized Red Party

NEW YORK — In some circles it is fashionable to report the death of the American Communist Party. These reports are exaggerated. Its National Secretaries have not the slightest intention of going to their own funeral. The party, it should be noted immediately, is so lively a corpse now that it has just completed plans for a daily newspaper to be the avante-garde of a drive to revive CP strength in the nation's massive industrial concentrations.

Victor Riesel

AT a series of secret National Executive Board and National Committee meetings in this city, its Moscow-oriented leaders, scowling at Mao and excoriating the Israelis in pep talks, quickly abandoned the rhetoric and issued a number of directives for immediate action.

Basically the new drives are aimed at creating a network of industrial and shop units in scores of cities. This is basic because such a network can be the springboard for its new Operation Infiltration.

All this can be ignored only by those cynics who believe that a disciplined underground organization of 12,000 hard members — who have stuck with the party despite the Moscow-Cairo axis — is impotent and musical comedy stuff.

But there are those who believe that 12,000 truly fanatical latter-day revolutionists can sap the confidence of a nation and its vial defense production in wartime.

THE PARTY IS of concern not only to the hawks but to the doves of the land. At the last of its secret sessions, its General Secretary Gus Hall, point by point, strategem by a stratagem, laid out the tactics for intense infiltration of the National Conference for New Politics. This is the new peace party national convention scheduled to open in Chicago Aug. 31 and run right through the Labor Day weekend — after it hears a keynote speech by the Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King.

Hall told his own comrades at the closed, and hitherto unreported, National Committee session that the Chicago parley will have 2,000 delegates. Since there really is no way to control credentials at this political launching pad, Gus Hall plans to have quite a bloc present.

Since Hall's camouflaged delegates must have some credentials, what better than to come from a series of labor clubs or industrial forums based in New York, Chicago, Detroit and other cities. It may be too late to build such a labor network by Labor Day. But the new "peace and freedom" party which may spring from the Labor Day gathering looks to 1968's presidential elections. Thus there will be more conferences and more time for Hall and his comrades.

So the party's industrial and shop club drive is on. It began at the March session of its National Executive Board. Its members believed they were meeting behind closed doors. But Committee for Labor Affairs Secretary George Meyers laid down the directives.

HE TOLD THEM that they must stop making nuisances of themselves in unions and plants. They must stop attacking their local and national labor leaders merely for the sake of swinging at the 'capitalist collaborators." He advised them to become shop stewards wherever possible — and then recruit heavily within their department. Especially, he noted, they must, in turn, attract other shop stewards, since these men are in daily contact with aggrieved white, Negro and Puerto Rican workers.

A formal report to party people later said: "The building of rank-and-file movements based on such issues (as war and peace and prices) was underlined as the major concern of Communists in the trade union movement.

The executive board members were told to attempt to exploit the crisis in the auto industry and the battle between the United Auto Workers and George Meany's AFL-CIO. Party people were directed to plan to stir action and "agit-prop" (Agitation propaganda work) inside the building and construction trades because this big bloc of workers (3.5 million) was the most solid strength behind President Johnson's Southeast Asian policies.

Not long after this meeting, a staff member at the party's headquarters at 23 West 26 St. here telephoned the sedate Hotel Roosevelt. He wanted to rent a large room for the weekend of June 10 through 12. He identified himself as an official of the "Social Workers Seminar." The hotel people told him he could have the large ballroom.

THE HOTEL DID NOT know that the "seminar" was merely a front and that the hostelry was renting its space to the Communist Party's National Committee — about 100 strong. They met there all day Saturday and Sunday and then shifted to the Roosevelt's "Madison Room." You could not distinguish the neatly dressed business-type, decorous revolutionists from hotel guests striding through the lobby to take in a piece of fun city.

At this three-day session the party considered the reports from the Executive Board. And they authorized the calling of a "National Conference on Trade Unionism and Industrial Concentration." At the moment, the time and place, but not the agenda of the concentration parley, are still secret.

When it is held shortly it will implement its drive to set up its new clubs, its campaign for young workers, its special appeals to Negro and other minority employes.

In turn, these clubs will be woven into networks to provoke work stoppages, or turn peaceful strikes into riotous demonstrations and, most important, help build the new peace party without the pacifists learning just who is breathing hotly down their collective necks.

For the Communist Party of America, life begins at '68.

Man's Nature

What caused the epidemic of rioting that has swept across the country, and what can be done to cure it?

These questions go to the roots of human nature and will never be answered by corrective laws or improvements in schools or in housing or in job opportunities, important, helpful and desirable though each may be.

What has been happening is due largely to intensification of racial consciousness — a malady that has affected peoples throughout the world as they have felt the stigma of discrimination by reason of race, religion, or color.

Existence of racial friction has been recognized for many decades in America, but it never reached big proportions and became a national problem until the population of each race grew to unprecedented proportions.

SMALL-SCALE integration in public schools for many years hardly affected the relations between whites and Negroes in Northern cities, As Negro attendance multiplied, however, racial consciousness emerged, and parents began to move or shift their children to other schools.

In this correspondent's high-school days in a Northern city, there was a handful of Negroes. One was the star quarterback and second baseman. He was popular with everybody, and no one gave much thought to his color or that of other Negro students.

A few decades later, at the school's commencement exercises, Negro attendance had multiplied to about 40 per cent of the total. When asked how the two races were getting along, the principal replied:

"Very good. We never have had any trouble at all, except perhaps in some rare case where the Negroes suspected discrimination in the award, for instance, of a prize."

"So you really are getting along all right on the whole?" this writer asked.

"Yes, so far, but I wouldn't want to be principal of this school if the Negro attendance reaches two thirds. There would be problems."

THIS OBSERVATION by the school's administrator was based on a realization of what can happen when any racial group, whether white or Negro, begins to approximate another in size. There is a tendency to develop a consciousness of power which assumes minorities must be ruled by majorities.

Freedom of association is supposed to be a precious right of the individual, but throughout the United States today the power of law is being used to compel association where it has not been accepted voluntarily.

Likewise, large bodies of Negro citizens have responded to the inflammatory speeches of their brethren and have joined in street demonstrations that have resulted in violence and vandalism.

Human relations will never be improved solely by legal fiat. There has to be a community spirit in which persons of all races begin to realize that reasoning with each other — especially when led by educated individuals with common sense — can succeed where exhibitionism has failed.

The role of the clergy can be powerful — not by becoming partisans in these disputes, but by helping their parishioners to be guided by a sense of what is right or wrong under moral law in the controversies of the day.

WHITE PEOPLE have lived in slums and poverty for decades without rioting.

Passions can be aroused by organized effort at any time, but the vexatious problems of human living will never be solved by emotionalism or condoning demonstrations that aggravate feelings and stir up anger and resentment.

The answer to the rioting problem will not be found in more talk about slum clearnace or better schooling or higher incomes.

Unhappily, some persons — both white and colored — are not possessed of the traits that make them either agreeable neighbors or good friends. It is their fellow whites and fellow Negroes upon whom rests the major responsibility for establishing an equilibrium of peaceful living as the population of all races grows.

Nemo alerted U.S. servicemen at the Tan Son Nhut base to Viet Cong intruders last December, the spokesman said.

A MOMENT OF MEDITATION

PAUL BECOMES A CHRISTIAN

There are many things about the life of Apostle Paul that are recorded in the Word of God. In our article today we would like to think about the life of Paul and see how that his life could be used as a good example for us to follow. Some of the greatest lessons that we ever learn in life, are learned by observing a good example set by another.

Before Paul became a Christian, he was called Saul. Later in his life he becomes known by the name Paul. Our first picture of him as we read in the book of Acts is that of a persecuter of the church of Christ. Acts 9:1-2. We read of Saul taking a journey to Damascus to continue his persecution of the church. As he was going along on the road, there was a great light that shined round about him. Jesus then revealed that he had been persecuted by Saul. Saul asked, "Lord, what wilt thou have me do?" The Lord replied by telling him to go into the city and there it would be told him what to do. Acts 9:6.

Let it be noted here, that the Lord did not save Saul here on the road to Damascus. There are many people who have a complete misunderstanding about how salvation comes from God and how Saul was saved from his past sins. The Lord did not even tell Saul how to be saved but just told him what he must do. God does not save people by appearing to them in a vision or in a dream or in some strange way. Rom. 1:16 states that the gospel is THE power of God to salvation. God does not save men except through the teaching of the gospel.

When Saul went to the city he continued there three days without eating or drinking. He gave himself to prayer. Acts 9:11. Prayer did not save him for he still had his sins when the preacher, Ananias came to him.

Now note carefully what Paul was told to do to be saved. Acts 22:16. "And now why tarriest thou? arise and be baptized, and wash away thy sins, calling on the name of the Lord." Thus in order to be saved, Paul had to be baptized!

The conversion of Paul has been misused many times. People have claimed that he was saved on the Damascus road because of the vision he saw. However, he still had his sins three days later when the preacher came to him. Some have made the claim that we are saved by praying to God. However, after three days of prayer and fasting, Paul still had his sins and had to be baptized in order to have them washed away.

Have you followed the example of the life of Paul? Obey God's Word while you have time.

When Great Britain ceded its claims to certain lands after the American Revolution, the Americans wanted to control the source of the Mississippi River, then believed to be west of the Lake of the Woods. This accounts for the boundary of Minnesota rising, like a triangle, into Canadian territory.

He and Mrs. Johnson are going to baby-sit next month while Luci and Pat Nugent take a Bahamas vacation.

The Nugents plan to bring their infant son, Lyn, to the White House for a visit with his grandparents around Aug. 1.

After returning from their vacation villa near Nassau the Nugents plan to take Lyn to see his other grandparents in Waukegan, Ill.

MONTREAL (AP) — Princess Grace of Monaco is expected to leave Royal Victoria Hospital this weekend.

She has been in the hospital since suffering a miscarriage Wednesday night. Friday hospital authorities said she was in excellent condition.

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., thinks his old dancing partner, Shirley Temple, might be a good candidate for Congress.

The former actress said Thursday she may run for a House seat. She and Murphy danced together in movies during the 1930s.

"I don't know. I think she probably would be a very good candidate," Murphy said Friday. "She was not only a very good dancer but she turned out to be a very good citizen."

The one time movie star now is Mrs. Charles Black, 39, housewife. She and Murphy are Republicans.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
... FOR THE CHURCH
... The Church is the greatest ... the building of character and good citizenship ... a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church neither democracy nor ... can survive. There are four reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. 2. For his children's sake. 3. For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church ... and read your Bible daily.

Pictures are made by fools like me. But it took an architect-friend to help me appreciate this one.

"I'm always impressed," he said, "when someone puts beauty and meaning where otherwise there would have been nothing. That's what God did when he made this tree!"

Photographers like to pretend they're philosophers. So I titled my picture Where There Was Nothing . . .

Next Sunday my architect-friend invited me to church. A bit overwhelmed by this sudden solicitude for my long-neglected spiritual welfare, I went. And there a remarkable discovery awaited me!

It is a drab expanse of broad, flat years which I call my life. And only God seems able to put beauty and meaning where otherwise there was nothing. Every Sunday a new truth grips me. Every Sunday I discover a new tree!

Ram Saxena, Indian geology student, inspects a rock clue to bolster the theory of a former delta area in this district.

'Delta' Detective

Indian Geology Student Seeks Clues To Bolster Theory Of Ex-Midland Man

By LIDA SMITH

An intensive geological study of the Yellow Creek-Lisbon-Brush Creek areas as a probable site of a delta of a former ocean millions of years ago has brought a 27-year-old Indian student of Louisiana State University here.

Ram Saxena of Lucknow, India, is primarily interested in the Pennsylvanian era, the Allegheny division and the Lower Freeport strata of sandstone revealed in large sections in hillside cuts made in preparation for new highways and in the various strip mines.

Saxena, working toward a doctorate at the university, is under the direction of Prof. John Ferm, a former Midland resident. It is Ferm's theory that this area was once a delta of an ocean and the two men propose to substantiate the belief through a study of the rock and sandstone formation.

It is possible to determine the "end" of a onetime delta by the certain mineral content found in the stones.

During the time of the tributaries in the area, some of the more dense minerals would be carried farther downstream and the less concentrated ones would be deposited along the way.

IT IS ALSO possible to locate the former channel of a prehistoric river bed by the shape of the rocks. Some would be smooth and rounded from the motion of the current, while others would retain the characteristics of a shoreline stone, perhaps rough in shape and angular.

Patterns found in the present exposed areas indicate a condition similar to one now occurring in the Mississippi river delta. Experts are able to tell the end of the delta region by the general deposits found in a river running southeast to northwest.

Saxena arrived from India Sept. 12, 1966. He will be joined by his wife, Gita, and their 1½-year-old son at the end of August. He described his home town as being cleaner and neater than Wellsville, more like the atmosphere of Baton Rouge, La. It is the largest state of India, a cultural capital from which all three of India's prime ministers have come.

The Saxena home is occupied by all the members of the family, including some of his married relatives and their families. His father is a lawyer. The large house is arranged in apartment-like divisions. He said that they have servants whose average monthly wage is about $4. A "favorite" of the household may earn as much as $10 a month.

Saxena has a brother who has his doctorate in chemistry, a sister with a master's degree in zoology and two younger sisters at home.

HINDI IS THE principal language and Hindu is the main religion, though there are variations in the language away from the cities. In Lucknow, he commented, Hindi is found in its purest form, more free of slang expressions.

A sedimentologist, he is an assistant professor at the University and hopes to finish his work by the end of summer 1968. He will then have to have 1½ years of practical training before returning to India, if, indeed, he decides to return.

He is greatly interested in the Himalayan mountain system between India and Tibet, and would like to investigate the possibilities of discoveries there.

The work he is now engaged in will, if proven accurate, mean a significant step in the development of background material for this area and for further geological studies concerned with the Pennsylvanian era.

He is residing with Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Rosenburger of 928 Main St., Wellsville. During the evenings when his work is done, they occasionally sit and talk about his country's customs.

He explains the traditional mark on the forehead of most Indian women as merely an ornament, a decoration. "They apply it with a type of lipstick, and it usually matches the color of the lipstick they are wearing," he said.

He also explained that the bride in India does not always wear white, but a gown, or sari, highly decorative and richly embroidered with design. During the ceremony the official colors the center part of the hair with a reddish powder to denote the fact she is a married woman.

MOST OF THE older women wear the sari, he continued, while the younger women prefer the street-length skirts common in America. Only in the larger cities do some of the girls venture to wear the much publicized mini skirt.

Another form of dress for the women is a shift-type dress, split an inch or so on the side, with a pair of trousers underneath. The sari, he said, is usually 36 inches wide and 5½ yards long.

The Rosenburgers, who have a grown family of their own, have had previous roomers, but none from India. They were contacted by the Rev. James Sanko of the Riverside Presbyterian Church about a room for Saxena. They didn't realize he would become not just another boarder, but a friend and almost a part of the family. He attended a reunion of the Rosenburgers recently and, as Mrs. Rosenburger said, "Fit right in with my other children."

His room with its boxes of rocks all over the place, is the butt of friendly banter, she said. The rocks are ones he has collected on his outings.

The Rosenburgers and Saxena are looking forward to his return next summer with his wife and youngster for another "family" reunion.

The Verse Box

Just Once I'd Like To See:

As large as baseballs — fallen hail;
A 10-foot pole; a giant sale;
Larger than a stomach-eyes;
A dog that talks (or even tries).

I'd like to view an eager beaver;
A Don Juan; a gay deceiver;
A green-with-envy colored man,
A frozen look upon his pan;

One ugly duckling; a study-brown;
The book that reader can't lay down;
With two left feet — a man replete;
A face turned whiter than a sheet;

An iron man I'd like to scan;
A truly easy payment plan;
A person falling off a log;
A pnup called Hector; a gay old dog;

A headache — sick; a thief that's thick;
A slowpoke cut right to the quick;
A bum type steer; a bell that's clear;
A villain with an evil leer;

A billiard ball (complete with hair);
A varnished truth; a fact all bare;
A man who's really beanpole slim;
Light that's soft; a wit that's dim;

Driven snow (why is it purer
Than driven stuff — can I be sure?)
The amount of bitters in a dash;
A fellow faster than a flash;

A dirty pin; an ear that's tin;
A party with a granite chin;
A heart that sings; the saddest sack;
One streak of yellow down a back;

Runless hose; a newsy nose;
The kind of tree where money grows;
And where, I wonder, have they put
That boy who's grown another foot?

A rubber neck I never saw;
A granite chin; glass arm or jaw;
An X-type brand; a worker canned;
An actually fine Italian hand;

A sugarfoot; a horn that's green;
A hat a-perch upon a bean;
A cast-iron tummy; a heart of gold;
A single daisy that ever told.

These things which all my neighbors see —
What, O What is wrong with me?
Aha! Perhaps the reason why:
I don't possess an eagle eye.

Inspiration For Today

Rev. A. R. Grafton
First Free Methodist
"ASSEMBLING OURSELVES"
The Church is the Foundation of World Peace — Hebrews: 10-25.

"Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together as the manner of some is: but exhorting one another: and so much the more as ye seek the day approaching."

The writer of the Book of Hebrews is reminding the people of his day, that they should not forsake, or do away with the assembling together for spiritual help.

It seems that there must have been a noticeable falling away of the people from the House of God. Jesus said on one occasion, "Must ye go away also."

REV. A. R. GRAFTON

There are many worthy institutions and organizations in the world today, and certainly they have their place, but let us remember that no institution or organization can take the place of the church in the community where you live.

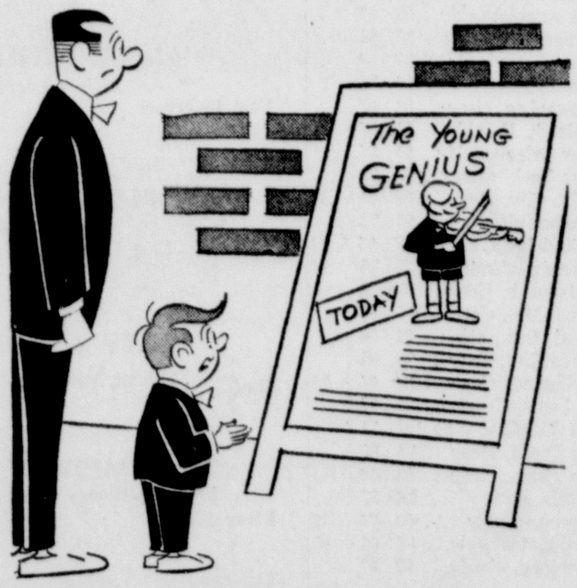

We do not wish to be an alarmist, but we do believe that the day is drawing near when the Lord will return for His own.

Certainly there are many signs that point to His soon coming. If this is true, certainly every Christian would want to do his best to help others to be ready. The church wants to help you.

Let us make it the business of our lives to be in attendance in the church of our choice each Sunday. Support the church by attendance, financially and with your prayers.

Stamps In The News

Much praise should be given to those underdeveloped countries who are attempting to do something about their situations. One of these is Papua and New Guinea which has just issued a new set of four postage stamps marking the completion of an important stage of the Laloki Hydro Power Complex. The stamp set also honors the territory's participation in the UNESCO International Hydrological Decade and two new industries benefiting from the development of water resources.

Two of the stamps have a common design. They show an artistic impression of water resources to generate electric power. In the lower left corner is the UNESCO emblem for this project.

Another stamp depicts pyrethrum flowers, a plant belonging to the chrysanthemum family. This daisy-like flower provides the main element for insecticides. Pyrethrum is proving to be an important new cash crop for the inhabitants.

The fourth stamp illustrates two tea leaves and a bud. Although tea has been grown experimentally in the highlands of New Guinea since 1939, it is only since 1964 that serious commercial planting has begun.

Outdoor Notes

Fish change their habits from time to time and I am wondering if this is one reason no one seems to be catching large bass from Beaver Creek with any regularity.

During July one of the best live baits has always been soft craws. For artificial lures, nothing could top a surface plug at night. But this year the two don't seem to be working.

The majority of bass being caught are small, in the 9 to 10 inch class. It could be we fishermen are using the wrong bait.

I have been catching a few small ones as everyone else. While fishing I have even seen large bass which refuse to hit. They appear to be feeding, but cannot be interested in anything tossed to them.

During my travels up and down the creek, I have noticed exceptionally large schools of minnows. When the bass are feeding, the minnows remain very close to shore. The minnows also can be seen jumping and skipping over the top of the water in spurts as if being chased by feeding fish.

I have never seen anyone using minnows for bait. Perhaps this is the answer. It could very well be that the larger bass are feeding more on minnows, because they are so plentiful.

Other fishermen I have met and talked with while fishing also have noticed the same thing.

Last year when fishing was poor in the evening and early morning I started fishing in the mid-afternoon during the heat of the day and had fabulous luck. Any bass fisherman with any know-how will ordinarily tell you this is the poorest time of day to fish. I informed others who tried the afternoon fishing and their catches increased.

So it could be that the fish have changed their diet this year and want minnows more than craws, worms or other live bait.

LIBERALIZED FISHING in Ohio apparently hasn't hurt the fish population, according to fish and game experts, but it does create some situations which are not very pleasing.

I received a call this week from a woman in Wellsville who witnessed a fisherman at Beaver Creek with a large string of small bass. She asked the man about the number he had on the stringer and commented on the fact they were so small. She was told he planned to eat them because the smaller ones were tastier when cooked.

Then, she says, after fishing for a while longer, the man checked the stringer and threw away about 10 that had died. She says she feels this was an unnecessary waste. I agree.

But, as I have pointed out before, there is a difference between a fisherman and a sportsman. This also holds true for hunters.

I see nothing wrong with catching a few small ones to eat, but in my book it is a crime to keep them until they die and then toss them away.

There are a few who waste game of any kind in this manner. Thank goodness they are in the minority.

HOW ABOUT A 30-pound muskie on a 10-pound test line? Mrs. George Chaffee of 418 Maplewood Ave. did it while fishing in Pigeon Lake, Ontario, Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Chaffee spent a month at the lake along with Mr. and Mrs. John Dawson and their grandson, Jeff Dawson, 5.

Mrs. Chaffee's muskie was 48½-inches. She was using a deep running, lure with a perch scale finish. George caught a 42-inch, 15 pounder on the same type of lure only different color.

They also caught two undersize muskies which were released. George says the fishing was rather slow, although they caught enough daily to fill the table.

They also landed a few nice walleyes, bringing back six that were about 24-inches.

Mrs. George Chaffee of Maplewood Ave., left, looks on as her husband hefts a large muskie she landed in Canada. Jeff Dawson, 5, of Calcutta was a member of the party.

George says it was quite a struggle landing the biggest muskie, which chewed holes in the hollow plastic lure.

SEVERAL CRAPPIES WERE caught recently at the mouth of Yellow Creek below Wellsville by Dale C. Watkins of 1146 Riverside Ave., Wellsville.

He was using small minnows for bait.

Dale also sends along a recipe for doughball and it sounds like a real sweet one. I tried the one sent in last week by R. M. Baur of East Liverpool and the results were good. One thing, if you don't want a very large batch, cut the recipe in half.

Dale's recipe calls for strawberry gelatin. This is like giving the carp dessert after providing the main meal.

Try this and let me know how it turns out:

Dry mix one cup of flour and two cups of cornmeal. Bring a pint of water to boil in a small pan and then turn down the heat to simmer.

Add to the water a tablespoon of sugar and a small package of strawberry gelatin. Stir constantly. Then, using a spoon, add enough of the flour and cornmeal mix to cover the surface of the water.

When the water bubbles through the top, cover the spot with more dry ingredients. Continue until all the mix has been used. Stir for two minutes after the ingredients are in. Dale says this is very important.

Remove the dough from the pan and roll it into a ball. Store in the refrigerator for use.

Dale says the first time he tried this recipe it didn't come out right, but now he finds it an easy way to make doughballs.

Anyone else having a recipe or some fishing, camping or hunting tip. Mail them to me in care of the Review.

IT TOOK A 45-MINUTE BATTLE for Lorin Howard of Dixonville to land a 15-pound lake trout on his trip to Canada. He had a 8-pound test line.

Fishing at a lake in upper Ontario, Lorin says the fishing was only fair. Canada has had heavy rains and this is being blamed for the poor fishing.

Lorin, who was accompanied by his brother-in-law, Lee Garn of Canton, says the walleyes were not biting and only a few northern pike were taken. These were small.

Lorin Howard of Dixonville, right, and his brother-in-law, Lee Garn of Canton, show off a 15-pound lake trout caught trolling in a Canadian lake.

Lorin has been visiting the same camp 12 years, and had much better luck last year on lake trout, which are powerful fighters.

THE MUSKINGUM RIVER area was hit with a severe storm three weeks ago, and fishing was very poor when I was there last weekend. Ralph Drake, Columbiana County game protector, and I took a few small catfish on a troutline. Prior to the storm, which dumped three inches of rain in a brief period, the catfish had been biting good.

WOODCHUCK HUNTING is reaching its peak in the area, and hunters should use extreme caution when in the field.

It would be wise to wear bright colored clothing, particularly headgear, while hunting. A blaze orange cap can hardly be mistaken for a groundhog, but tan, green, or even red in late evening can make a hunter's head look something like a woodchuck at a distance.

SEVENTY-FOUR VIOLATIONS involving 10 commercial fishermen and one fish transporter have been uncovered in a check of commercial fishermen along Lake Erie by Ohio Wildlife enforcement agents.

Charges were filed this week against the violators. Citations ranged from fishing nets on the reefs, the vital habitat of the walleye for both spawning and feeding, to undersize fish and undersize meshes in the twine of trap nets and seines.

The law requires the mesh at the back of trap nets to be not less than two and seven-eighths inches. This section of the nets allows the smaller fish to escape. The size of the mesh in the confiscated nets varied as much as an inch under legal size.

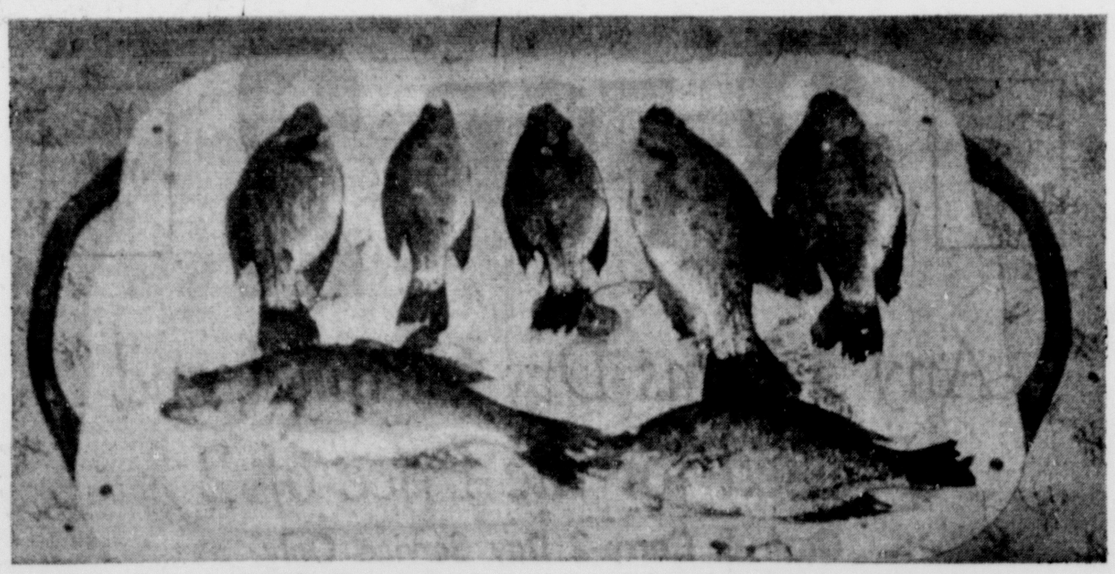

The seine violations occurred in that section of the seine where the law stipulates 4-inch mesh.

Twine used was found a half inch under legal size.

YOUNG PORCUPINES are born with quills. The average adult has approximately 30,000 of these barbed, needle-like hairs which are its only protection against danger.

Female brim (panfish) are capable of producing more than 60,000 eggs at a single spawning, and they may spawn up to three times in a season.

Young spiders disperse by ascending to heights of 14,000 feet or more on streams of silk and floating on air currents for thousands of miles.

Dale Watkins of Wellsville caught these nice crappies while fishing at Yellow Creek.

HOW DO YOU FOIL A THUMBSUCKERS? Mothers in Orlando, Fla., found it to be a fact thumbs don't have that winning taste when enclosed in a cast. Area Service Men In Viet Nam

By LIDA SMITH

Another Wellsville Marine has returned home from Vietnam and is preparing to report for duty at another base, this time in America.

Cpl. Dale Mobley, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mobley of 1797 Clark Ave., Wellsville, and husband of Mrs. Donna Wilkes Mobley, also of the Wellsville area, returned home recently from Ky Hai, Vienam, near DaNang.

Mobley, a squad leader, said that he was part of a team responsible for the security at a Marine helicopter base and did most of his guard duty at night during his 13-month tour.

In April he was under mortar fire, and later found out that three men, not 200 yards from him, had lost their lives.

HE WAS also involved in some of the interrogation of prisoners and led patrols to Phu Bai. Convoys carrying fuel to helicopters and different bases had to be guarded and, while he was on duty in the area, three convoys were wiped out.

Mobley thought that the part of Vietnam he was in looked a lot like Ohio — without, of course, the swamps, rice paddies and the strange faces. The faces didn't always remain strange, though; he said he made quite a few friends there and the people he met would "do anything in the world for you."

The aspect of food eaten by the Vietnamese people seems to be a common subject of criticism by our men serving over there. He said the men learn to eat rice—like it or not. Dogs, snake and lizards also add local "color" to the menu. The thought of eating the meat of one of man's best friend has caused more than one "green" soldier to forgo his evening meal, he said.

THE MEN received monthly innoculations against various diseases, Mobley reported, for their own protection. He said there are sicknesses we have never heard of raging through the population. What's more, he continued, we wouldn't want to know about them.

Mobley's father is employed as an operative mechanic at the H. K. Porter Co. Dale has four brothers, Fred Mobley, Jr. of Buckeye Ave., Wellsville, Paul Mobley, a drill instructor at Ft. Lewis, Wash., Willard Mobley of McDonald St., and Melvin Mobley, at home; and two sisters, Mrs. Naomi Wolfe of Cadmus St. and Mrs. Mary Wright of Wellsville.

His wife is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wilkes of the former Salineville Rd.

Soon Mobley, his wife and young son will leave for Cherry Point, N. C., a far cry from the flying bullets, heat and dirt of Vietnam. But no matter how far he goes, he'll carry with him enough memories of the war and his friends who may never make it home to last a lifetime, he said.

The Law

Newt wanted to build a delicatessen on some property he owned. The location was just right for good business, but, unfortunately, the zoning was not. His land was zoned only for residential structures.

He filed a petition with the township's zoning commission asking for a change. The property owners adjoining Newt's property didn't want the change so they went to the required public hearing on the matter to fight it.

UNDER THE LAW the board had 20 days in which to render its decision. The law stated that the decision of the board had to be unanimous in rejecting the application for the zoning change.

About a week later, Newt got the decision. Two members of the board favored the change and one didn't.

"Well, I guess that means I can build my delicatessen," Newt said.

"Oh, no it doesn't," the neighbors said. "The decision was not unanimous so it means the application was denied. Don't start pouring any concrete here."

"MY PETITION asked for a change," Newt replied. "They didn't deny it, so it was approved. The law says that it takes a unanimous decision to either deny or modify any such zoning change request."

Yes, under Ohio law. In a recent case, the Ohio Supreme Court ruled that the requirement for a unanimous vote meant just that. Failure to comply with the condition does not leave the recommendations, in this case a zoning change, in a state of suspended animation but constitutes an adoption, the court said.

Tri-State Tour Tips

Historical or roadside scenery buffs, outdoors enthusiasts or those who just want to relax, all will find something of interest on a trip into southeastern Ohio.

Most of the attractions, like those at Marietta, have been there for years, but recent opening of Burr Oak State Lodge has added fine accommodations with an outdoor appeal.

In Burr Oak Lake State Park off Route 78, the state-owned lodge has 60 rooms, a dining room, and an indoor-outdoor pool. There also is a bench, tennis, hiking, fishing and boating (including rentals). Daily rates are $8-10 single, $14-16 double.

Nearby are 30 new two-bedroom cottages ($75 per week). Camping, picnicking and public boating and swimming are reached off Route 13.

The area between Burr Oak Lake and Marietta over Routes 78 and 60 abounds with roadside views as does Route 678 northwest toward Stockport. The numerous river locks on the Muskingum also are an attraction.

Marietta was the first permanent settlement in Ohio (1788), and there is a marked tour of its historical attractions. Some highlights are:

Campus Martius Museum, where the home of Rufus Putnam, who led the first settlers, is preserved. There are other exhibits of early settlers, and a museum of Ohio River boats. Admission is free; hours are 9 to 5 daily, Sunday 1-5.

The Ohio Company Land Office is directly behind the Museum. It is the oldest building in the Northwest Territory and is restored and furnished.

The William P. Snyder Jr., one of the last sternwheel steamboats on inland waterways, is anchored at Sacra St. in the Muskingum River. It is open 9 to 5 daily. Admission is 25 cents (children 10 cents).

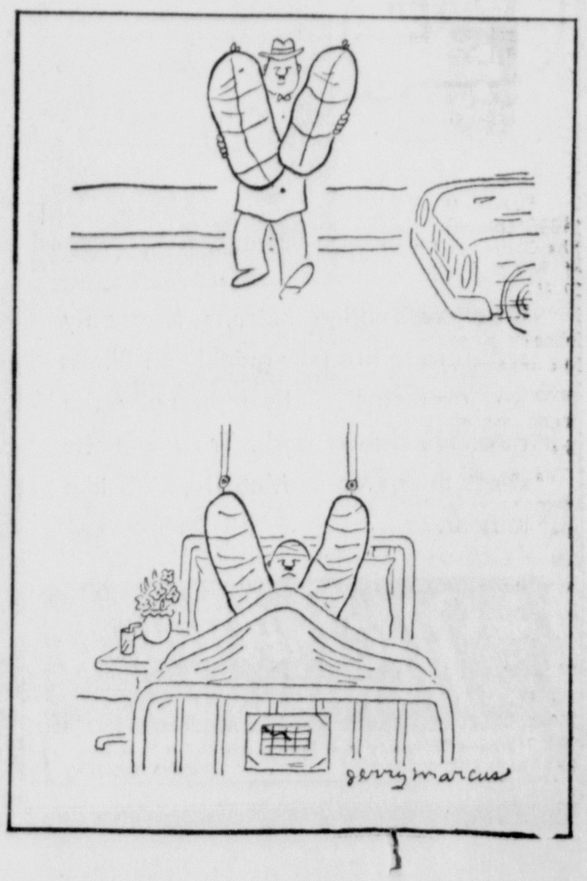

Mound Cemetery is the final resting place of Putnam and 24 soldiers of the Revolutionary War. The cemetery surrounds a "Conus," a 30-foot high burial mound and a perfect example of the Moundbuilders art.

Another historical site is southeast of Stockport on Route 266, where the Big Bottom State Monument marks the location of an Indian massacre of white settlers in 1791. Picnic facilities are on the grounds.

The Columbiana County Motor Club suggests 7 south to the Marietta area.

Guard Halts Violence In Minneapolis

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Hundreds of National Guardmen brought a tense peace today to the city's North Side Negro area hit by two successive nights of violence.

Two fires broke out at a Catholic church and school Friday night, however, and the fire department said an arsonist had touched them off.

In adjacent St. Paul, police reported that two gasoline-filled bottles were ignited and thrown into a street in the Negro area of Selby Avenue and Dale Street. A few rocks were tossed by a small crowd that gathered.

Some 650 National Guardmen, 400 of them in Minneapolis and the others in St. Paul, halted most of the fire-starting, rock-throwing and car-tipping of Wednesday and Thursday nights.

Gov. Harold LeVander, acting at the request of Minneapolis Mayor Arthur Naftalin, called out the guard Friday morning. The governor vowed that "rampant lawlessness and bloodshed will not be allowed" in any city of the state.

Minneapolis fire officials said two fires broke out in St. Joseph's Catholic church at either end of a basement tunnel connecting the church and adjacent school.

The blazes were brought under control within an hour but smoke and water damage was extensive.

The old church and school are about a half mile from where the National Guard and scores of policemen were posted along Plymouth Avenue.

Of Minneapolis' 483,000 population about 3 per cent are Negroes. Many are concentrated into semislum sections of the North Side, although there are no row house tenements. Interspersed with the old frame homes on Plymouth Avenue are small commercial shops like drug stores, cafes, cleaning shops and food and hardware stores. The area is two miles northwest of the downtown section.

Negro spokesmen link poor living conditions and alleged lack of job opportunities to the outbreak.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some 9,000 color television set owners and their families may be exposed to harmful radioactive rays from their sets, says the government.

It urged the unknown owners of the large-screen color consoles and table models manufactured by the General Electric Co. and sold between Sept. 1, 1966 and May 31, 1967 to pull the plugs and keep their television screens dark pending a check on possible radioactivity.

The warning came Friday from Surgeon General William H. Stewart, who said a painstaking nationwide search by General Electric had failed to turn up the 9,000 sets.

That's about one-tenth of the television sets the company feared might be emitting potentially harmful X-rays from certain tubes.

Even if the sets are issuing such rays, the extent of the harm they could cause was not precisely known.

Dr. Stewart described such rays as "a potential hazard to human health." A Public Health Service spokesman said later he saw no need for any owners of one of the sets to consult a doctor.

A GE spokesman said the color sets involved have 18-, 20-, 22- and 23-inch screens.

The tubes involved were identified by the numbers 6EF4 and 6LO6.

Owners of such sets were urged to notify GE dealers or service centers or state or local health departments before using them.

In Syracuse, N.Y., a GE spokesman said the sets involved "have a blue fine tune gauge above the control knobs and have on the back of the set either a serial number sticker beginning with OA or OD or no serial number at all.

"Receivers which already have been modified have a red and white label pasted on the back covering regulator tube replacement."

U.S. Weighs Military Help For Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is considering resuming arms shipments to the Middle East — and publicly announcing the quantities it supplies.

In announcing consideration of resuming arms shipments — suspended during the Israeli-Arab war — State Department officials said Friday the Soviet Union apparently still is supplying such Arab nations as Egypt and Algeria with weapons.

The officials said unless Soviet shipments to the Middle East cease, the United States also should sell armaments. They said U.S. failure to do so would shift powers balances in the tinderbox area and perhaps contribute to another outbreak of war.

The State Department officials, who declined identification, made their disclosures amid a congressional controversy over U.S. arms sales to foreign nations.

A bill to extend the life of the Export-Import Bank has been under fire from congressmen who oppose use of the bank to extend credit to nations for purchase of U.S. weaponry.

A number of congressmen have criticized arms sales in the wake of the Israeli-Arab war, which found the opposing sides using weapons made in and sold by the United States.

Noting the Soviet Union so far has spurned U.S. proposals for an agreement to hold down Middle East arms deliveries, State Department officials said Friday publication of U.S. shipments now is being considered.

Veale Fires 3-Hitter, Completes First Game Since April

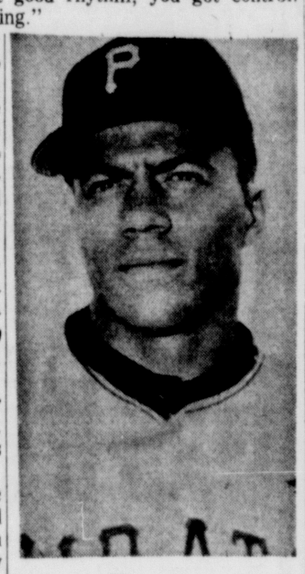

Cubs Nip Giants, Eye First Again

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Bob Veale got rhythm, who could ask for anything more?

Veale, Pittsburgh's enigmatic pitching ace, didn't miss a beat Friday night in firing a three-hitter for his first complete game since April 28 as the Pirates danced past the Houston Astros 9-1.

"I had rhythm tonight for a change," said the 6-foot-6 fireballer, who had failed to finish in 15 straight starts before taming the Astros. "If you got good rhythm, you got control. Without rhythm you have nothing."

BOB VEALE
Hurls Bucs To 9-1 Nod.

While Veale called the tune against Houston, the Chicago Cubs edged San Francisco 5-4 in 12 innings and crept within one game of the National League leading St. Louis Cardinals, who bowed to Atlanta 4-1. Philadelphia overtook Cincinnati 5-3 and Los Angeles blanked the New York Mets 3-0 in other games.

Veale's route-going victory boosted his season record to 11-4 and lifted the struggling Pirates one game over the .500 mark at 45-44. They trail St. Louis by 7½ games.

The 31-year-old left - hander struck out 10 and walked three. He had issued 15 walks in his last two starts.

Veale lost a shutout in the ninth inning on an unearned run. Maury Wills booted Jim Wynn's grounder and Rusty Staub, who had two of the Astros' hits, followed with a double before Wynn scored on an infield out.

By then, however, the Pirates had it wrapped up. Bill Mazeroski drilled three hits, scored twice and drove in a run; Manny Mota delivered two runs with a homer and triple, and Roberto Clemente, back in the line-up after missing four games with a sore knee, smashed a two-run triple to key Pittsburgh's 15-hit attack.

The Cubs closed in on first place again by snapping a 4-4 tie in the 12th on a walk, a sacrifice, an intentional pass and Willie McCovey's two-base throwing error. The Giants' first baseman threw wildly past second on an attempted force, allowing Al Spangler to score the winning run.

Willie Mays, playing for the first time in a week after a flu siege, sent the Giants ahead 4-3 with a sacrifice fly in the seventh, but the Cubs tied it in the bottom of the inning on Ernie Banks' RBI single.

Eleven pitchers got into the game, with Cal Koonce, the fifth Chicago hurler, getting the victory and Ron Herbel taking the loss.

Hank Aaron smacked a two-run homer and Clete Boyer drove in two runs with a homer and sacrifice fly as the Braves rolled to their 10th victory in the last 14 games behind Phil Niekro's six-hitter.

Aaron and Boyer homered in the fourth inning against Nelson Briles, making his first start for the league leaders.

Gary Sutherland knocked in two runs in the eighth with a two-out single and Tony Taylor's infield hit delivered an insurance tally for the Phils, who erased a 3-2 Cincinnati lead after Tommy Helms' error opened the gates.

Helms booted a double play grounder with one out before Sutherland's first hit since June 28 sent the Reds down to their third straight loss.

Rookie Bill Singer and reliever Phil Regan combined for a six-hit shutout as the Dodgers withstood New York's first challenge in the battle for eighth place.

Dick Schofield's double and Willie Davis' single keyed a two-run first inning burst and Bob Bailey's sacrifice fly, after a seventh inning double by Al Ferrara, completed the scoring.

Red Sox, Senators Continue Surprises

Chisox Win To Remain 1½ In Front

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Chicago White Sox can knock on wood that they called on Wood, whose relief as a starter kept them in first place in the American League.

A left-handed reliever who gets lost in the bullpen with the wealth of Chicago hurlers, Wilbur Wood seems to have found himself as a starter, winning the only two games the Sox have captured in their last six.

Wood, who put the knock on Jim Hunter and Kansas City last Sunday in his first start in the major leagues since 1965, did it again Friday night as the White Sox edged the A's 5-4.

Without those victories, Chicago's 1½-game lead over Boston would have melted into a half-game deficit and a second-place standing.

The surprising Red Sox took over the runner-up spot by topping Cleveland 6-2 for their seventh straight triumph. Minnesota fell to third when red-hot California beat the sinking Twins 2-1 for their fourth straight victory and 31st in 43 games.

Detroit kept pace by beating the New York Yankees 4-2 while streaking Washington dealt Baltimore a double defeat, 4-3 and 3-1, taking sixth place from Cleveland with their 11th victory in 13 games.

Wood, whose only two victories without a loss—he has three saves in relief—have come in those starts, gave the Sox 7 2-3 innings Friday, allowing only six hits and two runs, only one earned.

Ace reliever Hoyt Wilhelm bailed him out in the eighth, but needed help in the ninth from Bob Locker, the other bullpen workhorse, who got the last out after the A's scored twice.

The 25-year-old Wood, bought from Columbus after mediocre tries as a relief man for Boston and Pittsburgh where he won a total of one game, lowered his earned run average to 1.39 in 28 games as the replacement for sore-armed Jim O'Toole.

Wayne Causey, who had only three hits off his former Kansas City mates in 1½ years since he was traded, provided Wood with working room as he snapped a 1-1 tie with a run-scoring triple in the fifth inning off Hunter and then scored on Pete Ward's hit. Causey then singled in the decisive run in the ninth inning.

Joe Foy enlivened Boston's attack with a three-run homer in the third inning off Luis Tiant that provided enough runs for Darrell Brandon, who scattered eight hits, including a two-run homer by Leon Wagner in the eighth.

California, only 3½ games back in fourth place, got a fourth-inning run on Bobby Knoop's double and the decisive marker in the fifth when Dave Boswell walked in a run.

George Brunet, winning for the eighth time in 11 decisions, shutout the Twins until Harmon Killebrew's 28th homer in the ninth. Two more runners got on before Minne Rojas struck out Rich Reese, saving his 15th game and dropping the Twins two games out.

Willie Horton, bothered by a chronic achilles tendon, still managed three hits that drove in two runs and scored once before he left for a pinch runner as Detroit handed the Yankees their fifth straight loss.

Denny McLain had a four-hit shutout entering the eighth, but needed clutch relief help from Mike Marshall before he got the victory.

Cap Peterson completed Washington's sweep with a three-run double in the eighth inning of the nightcap, ending a scoreless duel between Joe Coleman of the Senators and Dave McNally.

Fred Valentine drove in Washington's first three runs in the opener with two singles, but the winning run scored in the eighth when Eddie Fisher uncorked a wild pitch. The Orioles later closed the gap on homers by Paul Blair and Brooks Robinson.

Aaron Leads By 4 After Record 65

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — It was like waiting for the other shoe to drop as the $150,000 PGA championship drifted into the third round today.

Arnie's Army and Jack's Pack were the most anxious for something to pop, but after 36 holes there has been a different leader each day and neither was Arnold Palmer nor Jack Nicklaus.

Tommy Aaron, who in his seven yers as a golf professional has been close but never a winner, led the parade with a score of 135—a first-round 70 and a seven-under par 65 Friday, which erased the one-day old Columbine Country Club course record of 66.

Another hot, humid day was sighted as the cut-down field of 76 pros trudged forth on Columbine's parched par 36-36—72, 7,436-yard layout. Scores of 151 and under qualified for the final two rounds.

The final rounds will be televised nationally by ABC, today from 6-7:30 p.m., EDT, and Sunday from 5-7 p.m. EDT.

Palmer has a 70-71—141 and Nicklaus 67-75—142.

Tied at 139, four strokes behind Aaron, were Dave Hill, the hero who led the first charge with a 66 and shot a 73 Friday; Dan Sikes, 69-79, and Don Bies, a 29-year-old assistant club pro from Seattle, Wash. 69-70.

Former U.S. Open champion Billy Casper, 75-70, and Julius Boros, 69-76, were tied at 145.

Masters champion Gay Brewer with a 74 was in the 149 bracket, barely escaping the cut.

The PGA defending champion, Al Geiberger, was making a strong run and was three under par until the heat hit him on the back nine. Geiberger bogeyed the last two holes and shot a 71 for 144.

Doug Sanders scored a hole-in one with a four-iron on the 194-yard 16th role. He had a 71 for 143.

Miss Casals Faces Richey In Net Final

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Young virtuoso Rosemary Casals, playing with well tempered verve and style, has swung her way into the finals of the National Clay Court Tennis Tournament opposite defending champion Nancy Richey.

The grandniece of the famed cellist, Pablo Casals, advanced with a semifinal 6-4, 6-4 victory Friday over top-seeded Billie Jean King, the world's ranking women's player and Miss Casals' doubles partner.

The second-seeded Miss Richey, San Angelo, Tex., seeking an unprecedented fifth straight title moved into the championship match with a 6-1, 7-5 triumph over Australia's Kerry Melville, top-seeded foreigner. The match turned on a disputed point.

Top-seeded Arthur Ashe, Richmond, Va., the nation's ranking men's player, moved into the semifinals opposite Brazil's Ron Barnes with a 6-1, 6-3, 7-5 victory over uninspired Australian John Cooper, third-seeded foreigner.

Barnes, second-seeded foreigner, struggled through to a lackluster 6-8, 8-6, 6-3, 6-8, 6-1 victory over unseeded George Seewagen of New York and Rice University.

The other semifinalists are Canada's Mike Belkin, fourth-seeded foreigner who upset defending champion and second-seeded Cliff Richey Thursday, and fourth-seeded Marty Riessen, Evanston, Ill., winner Thursday over top-seeded foreigner, Ray Ruffels, Australia.

Using a blend of the soft and hard, the 18-year-old Miss Casals, of San Francisco, controlled the tempo of the game and took advantage of repeated lapses by the Wimbledon queen.

Newell Nine Belts 6 Homers In 14-11 Win

Newell clubbed six home runs and outlasted Hookstown for a 14-11 victory Friday in the South Side Junior League.

Roundtrippers were hit by Dave Williams, Dan William, Jim Derda, Rick Nicely, Scott Carnahan and Dan Eckleberr. Mark Fabbro was the winning pitcher.

Jimmy Foxx Dies Of Heart Attack

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Jimmy Foxx, the barrel-chested Hall of Fame slugger who helped write baseball's home run record book, is dead. He was 59.

The famed Double X died Friday night of a heart attack.

Foxx was first baseman for the old Philadelphia Athletics in the heyday of Connie Mack's A's. They won the American League pennant three years in a row and captured the World Series twice in four games straight.

He was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1951, six years after he retired from the game.

In recent years Foxx's health had failed and his finances suffered. He resided at the pleasant suburban home of his son, John, a policeman, until recently.

He was shaky since an illness in 1965.

"At first they told me it was a heart attack," Foxx said in an interview in 1966. "Then they said it wasn't and I don't know. But they told me to cut down on work, which wasn't very hard. I'm pretty lazy."

He was with his brother Sam Friday evening when the second attack of the day hit him. Police emergency squads gave him oxygen and raced him to Baptist Hospital, but it was too late.

Foxx compiled a lifetime batting average of .325 in 2,317 games, and twice led the American League at the plate—with .356 in 1933 and .349 in 1938.

He led the American League in home runs four times, 58 in 1932, 48 in 1933, 36 in 1935 and 35 in 1939. His total of 534 homers puts him third on the all-time list behind Babe Ruth and Willie Mays.

JIMMY FOXX
Was Third In Home Runs.

Jimmy said he tried for singles, not homers, but added, "I figured if you hit the ball good, it was gone."

In 1933 Foxx won the Triple Crown, leading the American League in home runs, batting and runs batted in.

After Mays hit his 535th home run Aug. 17, 1966, Foxx sent a telegram and told reporters who came to see him, "I hope he hits 600. For 25 years, they thought only left-handers could hit the long ones. Why I hit 500 before any other right-hander could hit 400. I'm happy that another right-hander can prove he can hit."

Lawyers Gain Deadlock For First In Colt Loop

The Lawyers moved into a tie for first place in the Colt League on the strength of a 7-6 victory over Maxim's Friday at Colt Field.

The Lawyers are deadlocked with Riverview Florists with 13 points each.

Leading 6-3 after four innings, the Lawyers watched Maxim's score three times in the fifth to tie the game but the winners cameback with a run in the last of the fifth for the winning margin.

Carter belted a double and single while Dubberly singled twice to pace the Lawyers who collected eight hits including doubles by Murray and Joe March.

Kim Kemple gained the victory with Hahlen the loser. Paxen and Riffle had two hits for Maxim's.

Taylor Leads No. 3 Nine To 5-3 Victory

Larry Taylor twirled a three hitter as Davis' No. 3 team defeated Hobbs No. 2 team 5-3 Friday in the Chester Junior Softball League.

Taylor helped his own cause with a three run homer while Rob Mumford had two hits for the winners.

Ring Career Of Chuvalo Is Doubtful

TORONTO (AP) — George Chuvalo, who took a terrible beating from Joe Frazier in their heavyweight bout Wednesday night, is in a Toronto hospital with a fractured bone under his right eye, his boxing career possibly at an end.

"He's had double vision ever since the fight," Chuvalo's manager Irv Ungerman said Friday night. "It's the same type injury Ernie Terrell suffered in his fight with Cassius Clay."

An operation is scheduled today. It will be three weeks before the results are known and another six to eight weeks before doctors decide whether Chuvalo can fight again, Ungerman said.

Yesterday's Stars

PITCHING—Bob Veale, Pirates, hurled a three-hitter, struck out 10 and walked three as he beat Houston 9-1 for his first complete game in 16 starts.

BATTING—Wayne Causey, White Sox, slammed a run-scoring triple and eventually scored, snapping a 1-1 tie, and then singled home the decisive run in the ninth inning as Chicago beat Kansas City 5-4.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

Dear Heloise: My husband needed a fancy dress shirt to wear to a formal affair. Money being a bit short, I hit upon the following idea:

I bought a row white ruffling (a pleated sort of ruffle). I sewed this down the front of one of his nice white French-cuffed shirts under both sides of the tuck where the button holes are.

Then I replaced the regular white buttons with small black ones.

It cost me less than a dollar to convert a regular shirt into a fancy-dress one.

MIRIAM MILLER.

Miriam, I just know hundreds of mothers with teenage sons who rent tuxes, but yet can't rent the shirts, are going to dearly love you. Why should we buy one for a special occasion?

Those fancy shirts cost like gold inlays, (the only difference being we use our fillings daily) and teen-agers outgrow them so fast, too.

And the nice part about this is that the ruffling can be removed later for everyday wear again.

Wives whose husbands already have plain old tux shirts can add pleating, etc. to their husband's old ones too.

A great big squeeze from us all, honey pie.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: A tip for the girls who have trouble peeling fresh pineapple.

Just slice pineapple as though slicing bread. Then lay the slice flat on a cutting board and cut the peel off as thought cutting crust from bread. No more cut hands and fingers.

You may slice off as much as you need and store the balance in the refrigerator with the cut end down on a plate or saucer.

ESTER T.

-:-

LETTER OF THOUGHT

DEAR HELOISE: Cleaning house is like making hay and is best done when the sun shines.

If you do each room when it receives the maximum amount of light, it will take a little longer because you will see dust you otherwise would miss.

And on the other hand you will never be embarrassed by tattletail marks when the light changes.

H.M.B.

DEAR HELOISE: We have two little ones, a boy and a girl. When we were trying to teach them good morning habits — wash your face, brush your teeth — we found it a great help if the children could see themselves in the mirror.

Try washing your face and brushing your teeth without the mirror sometime. It doesn't feel right!

We installed a mirror between the wash basin and the regular adult height mirror.

Now the children can see themselves and wash and brush more readily. And of course, our little girl loves it.

A.C. HOLIDAYS.

DEAR HELOISE: Have you a patetrn too wrinkled to use? Just place it on the ironing board, cover with waxed paper and press with a warm iron.

The wax will stiffen the pattern to make it smooth and usable again.

ERMA ALCORN.

-:-

DEAR HELOISE: Did you know that straw or simulated straw hats, purses and shoes can be painted with quick-drying spray enamel to look like new?

So can the wicker-type purses.

SUSAN REED.

It works. I tried it. So spray that old purse gals.

HELOISE.

Ban Lifted By India, Bachelors Eat Again

MADRAS, India (AP) — The state government had good news for Madras bachelors — they can eat again on Monday and Thursday evenings.

An order imposed as a result of the food shortage had banned serving of cereal dishes by restaurants on those two evenings.

And since many south Indians will eat only rice, this, in effect, meant bachelors and others who dine out went without a meal on Mondays and Thursdays.

Now the ban has been lifted.

Hard-Boiled Delay

STAFFORD, Kan. (AP) — A bird's nest caused some delay in the wheat harvest this year. Clyneth Shusky of Stafford found his combine overheating when he took it out to cut the wheat crop. He dismantled the machine's radiator — and found a bird's nest full of hard-boiled eggs which had stopped the water circulating through the radiator.

Junior Editors Quiz on GOLD MINING

QUESTION: Why do gold miners mine underground?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Gold is said to originate from liquids and gases which work their way up below the surface. The gold they form, often mixed with other minerals as gold ore, will tend to lie in veins, like the vein of gold ore shown in black in our picture. One could dig a certain amount of this ore at the surface, but to obtain the large amount needed to make a gold mine profitable, the miners must sink shafts down into the earth, close to the gold vein. Level crosscuts then are dug, which reach the vein in various places. Going into these, miners drill into the rock (lower left), often blasting out sections with dynamite. The ore is dumped down a chute to the bottom and then hoisted up to the surface. Not all the gold is taken from the earth in this way. Gold grains and nuggets are also found in stream and river beds where they have been carried from veins. Early pioneers washed gravel in a pan to extract the gold—a process called panning gold. In more modern methods, huge loads of mud and gravel are scooped up by power shovels. The gold or gold bearing materials are washed out in various ways.

Report Given On 2 Mishaps

Highway patrolmen from the Lisbon barracks investigated two mishaps Friday night, neither resulting in injuries, although an East Liverpool man was cited in a one-car accident.

John Clutter, 22, of Fisher Ave. was driving his 1962 sedan east on Route 172 near the intersection with Route 30 and attempted to pass a car traveling in the same direction. An oncoming car forced him back into the right lane, where his car went out of control, ran off the right side of the highway and struck a guardrail. It then continued over an embankment.

Officers charged him with reckless operation.

Later, the two cars collided on Route 45 just north of Lisbon. The patrol said William Harp, 52, of Canton was following behind a coach operated by Curtis W. Bacon, 16, of 879 N. Market St., Lisbon, and sideswiped the youth's car as Bacon attempted a left turn into a restaurant.

There were no citations.

Powell Doesn't Appear At Black Power Meetings

BIMINI, Bahamas (AP) — Adam Clayton Powell kept a lot of people waiting for him at the black power conference in Newark, N.J., and at Kennedy Airport in New York. He did not show up, and he did not send his regrets.

The ousted congressman from Harlem called a news conference today at his tiny island retreat in the British Bahamas.

Powell also stood up a delegation from the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Friday who said in New York they had arranged for Powell to surrender for arrest to New York County Sheriff John J. McCloskey.

Powell's troubles in his constituency stem from a 1963 libel judgment against the congressman by Esther James, a widow whom Powell called a "bag woman" — a graft collector for crooked police.

Powell had been expected to attend the black power conference Friday.

He faces a jail term of at least 90 days in New York for criminal contempt. A Supreme Court jury found him guilty last fall of evading court orders in connection with a libel judgment.

Sharon Goes To Court In Strike By Workers

MERCER, Pa. (AP) — The city of Sharon has gone to court to halt a strike of street and sanitation workers seeking higher pay.

The city filed suit for a temporary injunction Friday in Mercer County Court, and a hearing was set for next Wednesday.

Some 30 workers struck Thursday. Uncollected trash is piling up, and city council President Jack Abernathy says it is creating a health hazard.

Thief Obtains Items In Rig On River Rd.

A thief entered a parked tractor-trailer rig Friday night and made off with clothes in a suitcase, flares, a pillow and blanket.

James A. Show of 325 Grant St. said the rig was parked on the River Rd., between 5 and 11 p.m.

The thief apparently entered the cab of the truck by using a piece of wire or a coat hanger to unlock the door.

Some 350 children in grades one through six are enrolled in the program, being carried out through federal funds, Tony LaNeve, coordinator of federal projects in the school system, reports.

Cochran said 200 elementary students are enrolled in summer school classes at Westgate while another 75 are attending East Junior High School.

The life adjustment program, in which 70 are enrolled is also carried on at East Junior. Twenty - two teachers are employed, four in the life adjustment program.
